

Alejandro Astorga, Professor

Psychologist, School of Psychology, University of Chile, Faculty of Social Sciences, Santiago.

Obtains psychologist's degree. (1995).

Master in Family Therapy, Accademia di Psicoterapia della Famiglia, Rome, Italy (2011).

Master in Law, mention in children, adolescence and family, Universidad Diego Portales, Santiago, Chile (2012).

Professor at the undergraduate and graduate levels of family systems theory and family psychotherapy. Faculty of the postgraduate program "Psychosocial and Multigenerational Therapy" in Universidad Mayor in Santiago, Chile.

He has participated as speaker at Bowen International Conferences (Pittsburgh, Hong Kong). Member of the Spanish Study Group at the Bowen Center since 2016. Currently, he is a member of the Iberoamerican Institute of the Bowen Center.

Technical director and supervisor of Opcion www.opcion.cl, an important organization offering services to the children, youth and families in Chile. In collaboration with the government this nonprofit serves annually more than 23,000 children and their families. They cover 10 regions in the country with 1,300 professionals.

E-mail: aastorga@opcion.cl