

Jean Tai Yuk Ching Leading the Organization in an Unstable time

How the leader can lead the organization to make changes in order to deal with the perceived threats? The sharing of this case example throws insights on systems thinking approach to identify the interlocking triangles, the emotional reactivity in the organization and how leader can response in a rational and thoughtful way to achieve the company goals.

